PREFACE

The Right to Information [RTI] Act, 2005 has come into force from 12th October 2005. The primary object of the Act is to promote transparency and accountability in the working of public authorities and to put in place a system whereby the citizens are able to access information easily from the public authority.

The Karnataka State Pollution Control Board [KSPCB] as a public authority under the RTI Act has taken necessary steps to implement the various provisions of the RTI Act. One of the requirements of the Act under Section 4 (1) (b) is to proactively disclose certain information so that citizen need not resort to filing applications under the RTI Act to access information. The proactive disclosure is to be made under 17 different headings. The KSPCB had prepared the required Manuals to comply with the requirements of the Act. However, based on the inputs received from the public and in the light of the experience gained in dealing with the applications, it was felt necessary to review and update the contents of the Manual. As such the Manual has been revised and issued. The Manual is also available on the Board's website www.kspcb.gov.in

The KSPCB has tried its best to compile this Manual. I hope that the users of this Manual will be able to get the required information about the KSPCB. I welcome suggestions from the users of this Manual.
